

DIAZ DEFIES ALL HUERTA WARNINGS

Returns to Mexico and Plans to Enter Race.

FEAR OF ASSASSINATION.

Envoys of Dictator Meet Him in Havana and Urge Him Not to Continue Journey, but He Disregards Their Plans—Huerta Denies Intention to Resign Presidency in Near Future.

City of Mexico, Oct. 19.—Provisional President Huerta has said he had not resigned nor fled from the capital and had no intention of doing either.

Havana, Oct. 19.—General Felix Diaz was intimidated on his arrival here and urged not to continue to the City of Mexico to stand for the presidency. He is in terror of assassination.

Senor Emerico de la Garza, recently appointed Mexican consul general at Paris, a trusted agent of Provisional President Huerta, met Diaz and told him it was his patriotic duty not to return to Mexico at this time.

"Death to the traitor!" cried Madero's deputy, Rafael Treto, when a boat put out from the steamer Corcovado, on which Diaz had arrived.

Treto was arrested, and all Mexicans were driven from the wharves until all passengers had landed.

Three members of the Diaz party from the City of Mexico also met the general and urged him to pay heed to the advice of Garza. They declared Mexico needed him and that he should continue homeward regardless of the personal danger.

The Huerta emissary told Diaz he must do nothing to interfere with the provisional president's plans for the pacification of the country or that might weaken Huerta's efforts to remain in power.

Diaz was firm in his determination to go straight to the City of Mexico. He remained ashore for a brief period and then went back to the Corcovado, which sailed for Vera Cruz. At no time during his stay did he express an opinion concerning affairs in Mexico.

Seventy-four Deputies Held. City of Mexico, Oct. 19.—Seventy-four of the 110 members of the Mexican chamber of deputies, arrested by order of Provisional President Huerta on Oct. 10, were formally declared prisoners by the second judge of the federal district court. They are charged with rebellion, sedition and insults to important public functionaries.

Rodolfo Reyes, formerly provisional minister of justice, and Jorge Vera Estanola, formerly provisional minister of public instruction, were among those kept in custody.

Ten of the deputies were set at liberty because of insufficient evidence to hold them.

Huerta For Blanket. Washington, Oct. 19.—General Blanquet is said to be Huerta's choice for the succession.

President Wilson will not recognize General Blanquet because of his past record and the belief that he is a tool of Huerta. It is understood the state department would be favorable to the election as president of either Pedro Lascurain or Frederico Gamboa.

TELEGRAPHIC TICKS.

The final act in the prolonged litigation over the will of the late Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy was the appointment by Judge Charles R. Corning in the Merimack county (N. H.) court of probate of trustees to administer the $100,000 fund which Mrs. Eddy left for the promotion and extension of the doctrine of Christian Science as taught by her.

Police Sergeant J. D. McQuade found an old man wandering aimlessly in the White House grounds. He told McQuade that he was Simon Flynn, seventy-seven years old, of Northboro, Mass., and had come to sell a horse belonging to President Wilson. He had with him the recipe for the liniment.

The 5 per cent discount clause in the new tariff act was made the subject of a further protest by Germany through Daniel von Hainhausen, chargé d'affaires who called on the acting secretary of state, John Bassett Moore, and left with his written objections to the clause.

PLACING TROUT FRY

32,000 Fingerlings Given to the Waters in This County.

On Saturday 32,000 trout fry were emptied into streams in this county. The trout fry were received from the state fisheries commission and three parties of local anglers conveyed them to the streams. Only three of the fish were dead when the consignment reached here.

Those who placed the fry say they were splendid fish and when they entered the water they conducted themselves like little school children, darting themselves in a manner that showed that they were glad of their freedom.

CANCELLED THE GAME

Injuries to Local Players Prevents Football Contest Saturday.

Unfortunately the local high school team was forced to cancel Saturday's game with the strong Williamsport High school team. Several of the local players were out of the game on account of injuries and Coach Kase thought it best to save the players for the upcoming game with State College High school. The boys are anxious to win this game, which has now assumed the importance of an annual game. Last year the two teams were very evenly matched and neither side was able to score. This year the dope all points our way, and the Clearfield boys feel that State is doomed to defeat.

DR. E. C. REEVE CALLED TO WASHINGTON CITY

Pastor of First Presbyterian Church May Leave Clearfield

The congregation of the First Presbyterian church of Clearfield was surprised when Dr. E. C. Reeve announced from the pulpit that he had received a call to the First Presbyterian church at Washington, D. C. The doctor stated that he had not made up his mind to accept the call, but it is believed that he will accept.

The First Presbyterian church at the national capital is one of the largest and most prominent churches in that city, and although his Clearfield congregation would sincerely regret his departure from this town they would be glad to know that he would occupy a much more advantageous position in Washington.

Dr. Reeve has been pastor of the First Presbyterian church for about four years, coming here from Philadelphia. He has won the friendship of the people of Clearfield by his courteous manner, and his ministry in the First church has been eminently successful.

Junior Chautauqua.

The Junior Chautauqua held its first meeting Saturday morning in the West Side School building. A large number of children were present and they had a very interesting meeting.

FLOOD WARNING SERVICE SUCCESS

Passes the Experimental Stage in Pennsylvania

THREE STATIONS IN COUNTY

Clearfield Well Taken Care of—One Station on Chest Creek, one on the River at Bower, and one on Clearfield Creek at Sterling Run—Report of Observations Ready.

Pennsylvania's flood warning service, which was established under an appropriation act passed by the last legislature, has passed the experimental stage, according to officials of the State Water Supply commission, and within a short time it is possible that the service may be extended to the northeastern and western parts of the State.

Ninety-Seven Stations. The commission has successfully operated a number of gauging stations on the streams of the state for years, having taken over in 1907 nine stations established by the federal government on the Susquehanna, Youghiogheny and Allegheny rivers, and created others since until it now has ninety-seven stations distributed over the four main river basins of Pennsylvania: the Delaware, Susquehanna, Potomac and Ohio.

Reports Almost Ready. The flood warning system now in process of organization is intended to give warnings to districts downstream of the probable height of impending floods and the daily flow and the records of stream discharge are important factors. Reports of gauge heights and channel conditions are received from observers at each station, and a mass of figures showing the flow of streams throughout the State is now in the hands of the printers. It is proposed to publish annually the complete stream data for the preceding year.

Three in Clearfield County. The stations which have been used in the flood warning service are on Buffalo Creek, near Lewisburg; two on Lycoming Creek, one on Chest Creek, in Clearfield county; one on the west branch of the Susquehanna, at Bower; one on Clearfield Creek, at Sterling Run, and one on Kettle Creek, in Clinton county. In addition stations for gauge heights have co-operated at Clearfield, Renovo Lock Haven, Jersey Shore, and Lewisburg.

OUR USELESS BUFFALOES.

They Have Passed Away Because They Were Economically Unfit.

As a typical species of American fauna the buffalo had his place in our history, but take him by and large he was a rather useless beast, with no adaptability for civilization. He served his purpose on the plains when men led a nomadic life there and existed on his rifle. But as soon as the range land, over which the buffalo "roamed" in countless thousands, became fit for settlement the buffalo was decidedly de trop.

Very little of him was fit to eat. He was worth a bullet when there was no other meat to be had, but a people accustomed to modern steaks and roasts would find him not overappetizing once the novelty wore off. In a word the buffalo was economically unfit, and he went the way of the unfit.

Had he been conserved he might now be affording opportunity for big game hunters to enjoy themselves in moderation. They are really the only persons who have suffered by his disappearance. To preserve the buffalo as a specimen in our zoos is proper. He is a curiosity and has a historical value. But entirely too many tears have been shed over his destruction. One steer was and still is worth a dozen bison.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

The Sun From a Balloon.

At the height of two miles the sun shines with a fierce intensity unknown below, where the dust and the denser air scatters the rays, which, thus diffused, lose their intensity while illuminating every nook and corner of our houses. At heights exceeding five miles this diffused light is mostly gone, and the sun shines as a glowing ball, sharply outlined in a sky of which the blue is so dark as to approach blackness. At the outer limits of the atmosphere the sun would appear a brilliant star of massive size among other stars, and if one stepped from its burning rays into shadow he would enter Egyptian darkness.

INVITES GERMANY TO HALT AERIAL NAVY

Churchill Proposes Cessation For Twelve Months.

London, Oct. 19.—Speaking at a great Liberal meeting in Manchester, Winston Churchill, the first lord of the admiralty, in behalf of the government, made a specific offer to Germany of a year's "naval holiday," wherein both nations would agree to halt the construction of battleships.

Widespread interest was aroused by the proposal, and much significance is attached to the offer, which was made while he was discussing the naval expenditures of $375,000,000 a year and warning the nation of the inevitable heavy increase in armaments if the rivalry continued.

The pith of his speech was contained in this paragraph: Now, we say in all friendship and sincerity to our great neighbor, Germany, if you will put off beginning to build your two ships for twelve months, we will put off in absolute good faith the building of our four ships for exactly the same period.

If Great Britain and Germany took the lead Mr. Churchill added, there was a good prospect of success in getting other powers to agree to a naval holiday thus relieving the taxpayers of a burden of millions of dollars.

Mr. Churchill first advocated a naval holiday on March 26, when he was speaking in the house of commons on the naval estimates, but Germany did not accept his offer.

DAY OF VICTORY AT TABERNACLE

Glen Richey Revival Is Bringing Good Results

EVANGELIST IS WINNING SOULS

Ninety Responded to Invitation Sunday and Interest in Meeting Grows—Singing of Prof. Leonard and his "Booster" Chorus Interesting Feature of the Revival.

The Glen Richey revival, which has been in progress just one week in a large, frame tabernacle erected especially for the meetings, reached a great victory on Sunday. Large crowds greeted Evangelist Hamilton and Prof. Leonard.

Three services were held during the day and the first invitation given to the unsaved. During the day there were ninety who responded. Interest in the meetings has been good from the start, but is growing in intensity and is spreading to outlying districts and towns.

Telling Discourses.

Mr. Hamilton is preaching telling discourses. So far the work has gone on without a criticism and the people both in and out of the churches are well pleased. Persons who took an active part in the recent McConnell campaign at Clearfield and who have attended these meetings are freely saying that Evangelist Hamilton is not one whit behind that remarkable man who so completely won the people of Clearfield and the surrounding community.

Excellent Singing.

The singing, which is being conducted by Prof. Leonard, is doing most excellent work. The interest taken in the music is intense and unusual. Prof. Leonard has a "Booster" chorus composed of boys and girls, and it is interesting to see how these little folks are taking hold of the songs he is teaching them, and they are leading quite an influence to the masses.

Tonight the Evangelist will rest. The services will be resumed on Tuesday evening and every night this week. Next Sunday, 26th, Mr. Hamilton has announced that he will preach to men only at 8:00 o'clock on the subject, "Shams".

BABY MIDSHIPMEN.

In the Old Days When Children Were Sent to War.

Among other improvements in the art of war as attained by the world in these later days is the abolition of the practice of sending children to sea, as was the case when the midshipmen of the old "oak walls" of England often were boys of less than fourteen years.

The Marquis of Dufferin and Ava in telling about the siege of Bomarsund, in the Crimean war, which he witnessed from the frigate Penelope, related this story of one of these little fellows.

"What pleased me most during the whole business," he says, "was the gallant behavior of a little midshipman, a mere child, thirteen or fourteen years of age. About the time when the fire became pretty hot, I happened to come across him, and, as he seemed to be as much out of a job as myself, I touched my cap and took the liberty of observing that it was a fine day, to which he politely replied that it was."

"Encouraged by his urbanity, I ventured to ask him how long he had been at sea, to which he answered, 'I have only left my mamma six weeks, but I ain't going to cry on her majesty's quarterdeck,' a remark which I think as worth recording as many a one made by more illustrious heroes. Soon after this, however, a man was killed close to him, and the little fellow fainted and was taken below."

A Woman Governor.

Queens have ruled many nations, but Pennsylvania is the only one of the United States that ever had a woman for governor. A passage unearthed from Arthur's "Governors of Pennsylvania," page 128, says:

"On the 30th of July, 1718, William Penn died, at the age of seventy-four. By his will his wife, Hannah, was made his sole executrix and assumed the management of colonial affairs, executing this difficult task with rare tact and business capacity. 'She became,' says Watson, 'in effect our governor, ruling us by her deputies or lieutenant governors during all the term of her children's minority.'"

COMING EVENTS.

General election, Nov. 4.

Deer Hunting season opens Nov. 10
closes Nov. 25.

Good evening! Made up your mind
whom you will vote for for judge?

A VITAL ISSUE.

The assertion that the liquor license question is not an important issue in the judgeship campaign in Clearfield county is not correct.
While there are some people in the county who do not regard the license question as important, there are thousands who look with disfavor
upon even the suggestion that the judge of the county courts should be under the domination of the liquor interests. And if the voters are to believe one-half of what is said of the two Democratic candidates for judge their success at the polls next
set month depends almost wholly upon the amount of work done and the bottle the liquor interests contribute
to one or the other of these candidates.
The liquor license question has been made a vital issue in this campaign by the newspapers and friends
of the two Democratic candidates.
Charges and countercharges of being allied with the liquor interests have been made against both of these candidates, with no convincing denial of the accusations from either. In the absence of any denial of these charges must not the people infer

that both Democratic candidates look
with favor upon men who are now selling liquor and those who hope to sell it in the future? The voters will not be fooled into believing that either of these candidates will enforce
the liquor laws if either one of them
is elected.

It is folly to say that the license question does not enter into the consideration of the fitness of the candidates for judge. A majority of the people of Clearfield county are opposed to an increase in the number of licenses to sell liquor in Clearfield county, and yet the statements of the newspapers which are conducting the campaign of the two Democratic candidates for judge are trying to prove that both candidates stand in with the liquor interests. The leaders of each faction are sure that the candidate of the other faction has promised licenses to a large number
of would-be hotel keepers in the county. This charge is not made by the citizens who are advocating
the election of Oscar Mitchell, but
by members of the two Democratic factions.

Oscar Mitchell is the only candidate for judge who has boldly and squarely defined his position on the license question. He has explicitly declared that he will not grant any wholesale licenses, that he will enforce the no-bottle rule and that he will prohibit treating. Not a word relative to these three menacing
features of the liquor business has come from the two Democratic candidates. Why? Is it because these two candidates are supported by the liquor element? Is it because the charge that both of them have secured the support of the liquor interest through promises—either made themselves of by their adherents—
that the liquor interests need not fear that the court will reduce the number of licenses or refuse to grant
licenses to wholesalers?

It is because the temperance people
—the people who are disgusted and alarmed when they see the ever-growing influence of the liquor element
with the makers and dispensers of the law—believe that in Oscar Mitchell's candidacy they have an opportunity to overthrow the evil of intemperance and because they fear
that the court presided over by either
of the two Democratic candidates
may increase the power of the liquor interests to work harm to the moral and physical natures of the people
that the voters of Clearfield county will elect Oscar Mitchell and thus put upon the bench a man who will curb the harmful influence of the liquor dealers and otherwise conduct
the affairs of the county courts in the interests of the people.

FIRE PREVENTION

Clearfield has been exceptionally fortunate in the matter of expensive fires. This fact may be regarded as being due to good luck rather than
to any precautions against confagrations taken by the citizens. The fact of the matter is that the citizens of Clearfield invite the destruction of their property by their carelessness
and indifference. It is therefore almost miraculous that fires are not more numerous and disastrous.

In passing along the streets waste
paper and other inflammable material
may be seen in alleyways, on cellar
steps and under porches, where a carelessly tossed match or cigarette
may at any time start a fire which would be disastrous. Such carelessness is almost criminal, and citizens should resolve to inaugurate a campaign of cleanliness which would remove the menace of serious blazes
from the properties in this town.

What seems to be badly needed in this town are ordinances prohibiting the throwing of rubbish of any kind
into the streets or in such places
about the streets as to endanger property through fire; for the appointment of an official whose duty it would be to enforce the above ordinance, among inflammable material.
With some such legislation the danger of destructive fires would be greatly lessened.

The women at a seaside resort in California voted against the closing of the saloons in that place. That's the kind of women who waste their time at seaside resorts.

Popcorn is now a breakfast food.
The popping is probably done in the parlor the night before.

A Mexican assassin who murdered an American was sent to jail for twenty days. Those Mexicans may hate Americans, but they are quick to imitate American ways—of dealing difficult.

IMPROVEMENT OF HIGHWAYS

Numerous Financial Reasons
For Proposed Improvements

NO TAXES ON REAL ESTATE

Farmer Escapes, While Nearly All of
the interest on the Proposed Bond Issue Will Be Paid by Corporations
and Automobile License Fees.

Reasons for voting for the Good Roads amendment to the constitution
and building the roads, exist in almost infinite variety; but of reasons
to the contrary no valid or even plausible ones have been shown. In this connection a few facts may be
interesting:

With nearly seven billion dollars' worth of property, Pennsylvania real estate pays no state taxes, and the State has no debt. Sixty-eight per cent of its population live in its cities, boroughs, and other centers, leaving but 32 per cent on the farms. The State has an area of approximately 46,000 square miles, 100,000 miles of roads of different classes, or about 2.2 miles of road to each square mile of land.

The revenues of the State, out of which will be paid the interest and amortization charges on the Good Roads loan, are derived mainly from a tax on the capital stock and the gross receipts of corporations, some licenses of various kinds, a variety of fines and penalties, the automobile registration tax and some other items.

The farmer, therefore, nor the real estate owner, will pay a dollar of the cost of carrying a road loan, and the people who will pay it all are very greatly in favor of the proposition. Their taxes will increase, but not in rate. The great enhancement of business, caused by the improve- ment of the roads, will naturally in- crease the gross receipts, on which the corporations will quite cheerfully pay the added tax.

On the other hand if the constitu- tional amendment be defeated at the polls, the defeat is almost certain to be followed by the levy of a direct property tax. The absolute necessity for the improvement of the State Highways will force action on the subject, and while no additional taxa- tion will be necessary to pay the car- rying charges on an issue of bonds, in case of the failure of the bonds the only recourse will be to direct taxa- tion to get the amount of money necessary to go ahead with the work of highway construction.

This danger is not one to be poo- poohed, nor laughed at. Last fall the voters of Ohio defeated a constitu- tional amendment providing for a bond issue for road purposes; where- upon the Legislature at the following session, responding to the insistent demand for highway improvement, enacted a law levying a direct tax on real property for road purposes for a series of years. If the constitu- tional amendment had been carried at the polls the extra direct taxation would not have been necessary.

The proposition should appeal to the business intelligence of every citizen of Pennsylvania. With the roads improved over the State so that every producer can haul his products to market at a minimum of cost, and when it suits him, the agricultural in- terests of the state will prosper and grow rich, both on account of the money saved in the haulage and by reason of the fact that the farmer can market his products at his own in- clination, instead of being obliged to haul when the roads are passable; and this invariably occurs when there is a shortage of cars, a congestion of markets and low prices.

Among the corporations which pay revenue to the State of Pennsylvania the Pennsylvania Railroad Company stands as the leader. It makes the largest individual payments of any firm or corporation. Since its organ- ization the company has stood uni- formly in favor of highway improve- ment, and has many times assisted, with influence and money, in their construction. It has always been and still is the view of that corporation that the development of commerce, by reason of highway improvement, is an important factor in the material pro- gress of a state and its institutions.

In the fourth annual report of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, page 9, dated December 31, 1880, occurs the following paragraph:

"The plank roads from Bedford to Hollidaysburg, and from Somerset to Johnstown, with numberless kindred improvements under construction or in contemplation, will aid in swelling the receipts of the mother work (The Pennsylvania Railroad) to which they owe their existence, and in develop- ing the dormant wealth of Pennsyl- vania."

The company still maintains the idea that the construction of improv- ed highways is in line with the de- velopment of Pennsylvania's dormant resources; and with this development must come more business for the rail- roads, and a greater accumulation of wealth by the people.

Not only must the quality of the soil and improvements be satisfactory to the man who wants to buy a farm, but he first wants to know, before he will go to look at it that it has a telephone, and is along a rural mail route and a good road.

Emer A. Peterson and Miss Martha Jane Hollopeter were married Saturday evening at 5 o'clock at the home of the bride.

Basketball.
Basketball was the invention of one man and was completed at a single sitting. In 1891, in the course of a lecture at the Young Men's Christian association in Plainfield, Mass., the lecturer spoke of the mental processes of invention and used a game, with its limitations and necessities, as an illustration. James Naismith, who was a member of the class, worked out basketball that same night as an ideal game to meet the case. It was presented the next day in the lecture room and put in practice with the aid of the members of the gymnasium. From there it spread to other branches of the Young Men's Christian association and subsequently to athletic clubs and the general public.—New York Press.

An Optimist's Epitaph.
The Caribbead invalid has ordinarily a surprisingly robust appearance. He looks strong. Sufferers say he has to be to live through the rigors of the cure. There is an apocryphal legend of an epitaph in a Caribbead churchyard:

I was well.
I hoped to be better.
Here I am!

The woman's hair is gray, her figure is frail. She might easily be the grandmother of men now voting. She was asked why she came here. "To tell America why we want the vote in England," she replied. A sad smile crossed her face, as if she realized that her mission had failed. "I have no advice to give to the women here. So far as I intended to speak of the suffrage situation here, it was to congratulate the American women upon the orderly sweep of the suffrage sentiment across the country."

SMOKE OUT OPPONENTS OF THE CURRENCY BILL

Wilson Told That Republicans Will Not Delay Measure.

Washington, Oct. 19.—Senator Stone announced that he will address the senate next Wednesday on the necessity of passing the currency bill at this session of congress.

It is generally understood that he will act as a direct spokesman of President Wilson when he urges his colleagues to put aside their differences and unite on the bill.

Senator Stone's speech is calculated to "smoke out" and put on public record Senator O'Gorman of New York, Senator Reed of Missouri and Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, the three Democrats whose tactics are delaying action on the bill.

Senator Stone is expected to direct much of his fire against Senator O'Gorman, with whom he had an altercation on the subject the other day.

The speech to be made by Senator Stone is expected to be the beginning of an active fight for the passage of the bill at this session, and other Democratic senators are understood to be preparing to demand that the party get together and dispose of the legislation.

President Wilson showed increased optimism at the outlook for early action on the bill. Senator Knute Nelson, the ranking Republican on the committee, conferred with the president and assured him that the Republicans did not propose to filibuster against the bill, but that they are extremely anxious to help put the measure through after they have been satisfied of its worth. This partial promise of support from a Republican appeared to have reassured the president in the face of opposition led by O'Gorman.

One Killed; Three Injured.
Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Oct. 19.—William Joyce of Beacon was killed and Irving Lester and Mrs. Mamie Acker of Poughkeepsie were seriously injured when their automobile left the roadway and ran into a tree near Hyde Park.

DEATHS OF A DAY.

Commander Charles Augustine Brand, U. S. N., retired, is dead at Colchester, Conn. He was a native of Norfolk, Va., and during his service of twelve years commanded the station at Culebra and the United States ship Alliance. He retired in 1912.

Dr. William E. Spaulding, for many years dean of the College of Dentistry, University of Minnesota, died at his home at Farmington, Minn. He was seventy-one years old. Dr. Spaulding was veteran of the civil war.

Thomas C. Leight died suddenly at his home in Mount Vernon, N. Y. He was born in Bridgeport, Conn., fifty-nine years ago. Mr. Leigh was once in the coal business in Bridgeport.

Charles Symons, formerly sergeant of Company H, Twenty-third regiment, N. G. N. Y. He was born in Brooklyn fifty-four years ago and was in the insurance business.

Ignatius Byheny, a retired master decorator, died from asthma at the age of seventy-eight years at his home, Evergreen, N. Y.

James McKane, prominent Brooklyn contractor, who built most of Coney Island's large hotels, is dead at Sheepshead Bay, N. Y.

Samuel Ketcham, many years a dry goods and lace merchant of Atlantic City N. J., is dead there.

PALPITATION OF THE HEART.

It is Usually Caused by Nervous or Digestive Troubles.

Palpitation is rarely if ever due to any disease or weakness of the heart. It is almost invariably the result of nervous or digestive trouble. The beat of the heart arises within itself. There are nerves in the muscles of the heart, and they regulate its beating, although the speed or rate of the beating is not of their choosing. If they were not held in check they would set a rate about double that which is actually maintained.

The heart is supplied from the brain with two pairs of regulating nerves. One pair, the cardio motor nerves, act only to spur up the heart to quicker action. They are usually inactive, waiting the occasion for applying the spur. The other pair, the cardio inhibitory nerves, are always in action. It has been said that the heart runs in a pair of tightly held reins, and the simile is true, for these nerves check the speed.

Fear, worry, disorder of the stomach or nervous system causes these cardio inhibitory nerves to relax; then the heart begins to race. There is nothing the matter with the heart itself, and no one need be alarmed about that organ just because it beats too rapidly. Its palpitation is due to a psychological or a physical cause, something that has caused the relaxation of the reins and allowed the cardio motor nerves to apply the spur.—New York World.

CHILD SHOOTS HIS MOTHER.

Thinking Target Rifle Empty, the Boy Pulls the Trigger.

Egg Harbor, N. J., Oct. 19.—Seven-year-old Charles Welschbecker, playing with a 22 caliber rifle, shot and seriously wounded his mother.

The bullet entered a few inches from the mother's spine and lodged in the lungs. She is in an Atlantic City hospital and may not recover.

The boy had been shooting targets with the rifle, and, thinking the gun empty, pointed it at his mother and pulled the trigger.

Clasp Counsel For Nervous.

Washington, Oct. 19.—Two grimy little youngsters who sell papers at the marble office building of the senate will have Senator Clapp as counsel in the juvenile court Tuesday, where they are charged with jumping on street cars. "I used to do a lot worse things than that when I was a boy," the senator said, "but no one arrested me for them."

MRS. EATON JEALOUS OF NAVAL OFFICER

Girl Denies He Flirted With Member of Choir.

Plymouth, Mass., Oct. 19.—The trial of Mrs. Jennie May Eaton, charged with the murder of her husband, Rear Admiral Joseph G. Eaton, through the administering of poison, has developed these facts:

First.—She was jealous of the famous old naval officer.

Second.—Her accusation that he was addicted to drugs is not upheld by the opinion of Dr. Joseph Frame, to whom his death came as a surprise.

Third.—She wrote letters calculated to show that her husband was a flirt and had insulted a young woman friend.

The testimony as to the jealousy of Mrs. Eaton was given by her daughter, Miss Dorothy Almsworth. The young woman is seventeen years old and a daughter by her first marriage. She testified she never had seen her stepfather act in any other manner than that of gentleman and never had seen him flirt, as her mother said.

Supporting the testimony to show jealousy of her husband a letter written by Mrs. Eaton was put in evidence when Miss Grace Byram Howard of New Bedford was called to the stand. Miss Howard was a singer in the choir in the little church at Assinippi, where the Eaton family went to church.

She denied the admiral had winked at her or flirted, as Mrs. Eaton had asked her to do.

AMUSEMENTS

"The Spendthrift"

At the New Opera House next Monday night theatregoers will have the opportunity of seeing the latest New York dramatic sensation, "The Spendthrift." It is from the pen of Porter Emerson Browne, whose "A Fool There Was" first brought him into prominence as a playwright.

Mr. Browne's play deals with a silly, vain, extravagant woman who is, of course, pretty, kittenish and lovable. Her sole enjoyment in life is culled from society and she believes that her social position should be kept intact at all hazards. She loves her husband in her indolent, light, playful fashion. Is he not the brain power of the machine that grinds out her money? To attempt to argue or reason with such a woman is useless. She is not, however, a bad woman, but thoughtless and selfish. Her extravagances have landed her husband in bankruptcy.

SULZER TO FIGHT TAMMANY HALL

Plans Attack on Judge McCall,
Mayoralty Candidate.

STATEMENT FROM FRAWLEY

Senator Denies That Any Campaign
Money Went to Murphy and Talks of Prosecuting Executive For Perjury.
Sulzer Will Issue No Statement Except From Stump.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 19.—William Sulzer intends to enter the New York mayoralty campaign, attacking Edward E. McCall, the Tammany candidate, as the emissary of "Boss" Murphy in the negotiations which caused the break between the governor and Tammany and resulted in Sulzer's removal from office.

Friends of the ex-governor declare he will openly charge that during the early months of his administration McCall, first as a justice of the supreme court and later as Sulzer's appointee to the chairmanship of the public service commission, frequently urged him to call off the Hennessy investigations and stop the intended graft prosecutions.

Sulzer himself would not talk about this feature of his intended campaign of speechmaking. His secretary, Chester C. Platt, however, said: "It is true that during the early part of the Sulzer administration McCall was a frequent visitor at the executive mansion. He did make requests with which Governor Sulzer could not comply. That is all I can say. Mr. Sulzer will have something to say on that matter himself when he gets to New York."

To Explain Ryan Incident.
Friends of Sulzer also say that when he takes the stand he will have a very pertinent explanation of the Allan Ryan incident. He will admit getting $10,000 from Ryan, but will claim that he solicited the contribution at the request of Charles F. Murphy and that the money was turned over to an agent of Murphy.

Sulzer will leave here in a state automobile, the same highway department machine he has used ever since John N. Carlisle became commissioner of highways.

He insists he will make no further statement until he takes the stump. John A. Hennessy also plans to enter the mayoralty campaign in New York, attacking Murphy and the Tammany machine with the material he has gathered in his investigations.

Governor Glynn will not occupy the executive mansion until Nov. 1. A corps of cleaners will be put to work and the house will be thoroughly renovated and overhauled. It is known that Mrs. Glynn plans to entertain extensively.

Frawley Makes Denial.
New York, Oct. 19.—"William Sulzer's statement that he turned over to agents of Charles F. Murphy or to the state committee all or any part of the money collected for campaign expenses and originally deposited in his personal bank account is so absurd that it is laughable."

"If Sulzer persists in these attacks and makes himself obnoxious in the municipal campaign it would not be surprising if the perjury charge established at the impeachment trial is pressed for action in the criminal courts."

This is Tammany's reply made by Senator James J. Frawley to Sulzer's charge that all money collected and not accounted for in his sworn list of contributions were turned over to Murphy and his lieutenants.

Sulzer's aid in the municipal campaign would be gladly accepted by the fusionists, it is said. In the Sixth district his nomination is being widely discussed for the assembly on the Progressive ticket. This nomination is made possible by the deadlock between the Republicans and Progressives in a vain effort to fuse.

LOVING CUP FOR SULZER.

Admirers Likewise Present Bouquet to Mrs. Sulzer.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 19.—In a drizzling rain about 100 men, headed by a band, marched to the executive mansion and presented to William Sulzer a silver loving cup and to Mrs. Sulzer a huge bouquet of American Beauty roses. The procession was led by William Furlong, an undertaker, and at its head was carried a transparency reading on one side, "Our Bill: He Dared to Do Right," and on the other "William Sulzer, Victim of Corrupt Bossism." Each of the paraders wore a lithograph of Sulzer in his hat. One of the onlookers was Patrick E. McCabe, clerk to the court of impeachment, and the gathering led him to remark:

"That is a collection of the finest political crackpots I have ever seen." The paraders consisted of a mixture of all parties, most of them in the disappointed class. Mr. Sulzer's secretary, Chester C. Platt, walked between Calvin Keesch and Jay W. Forrest.

The loving cup was engraved: "To William Sulzer, Impeached Governor; a Victim of Corrupt Bossism. Friday, Oct. 17, 1913."

Yager Porto Rico Governor.

REFUSE TO ADMIT MRS. PANKHURST

Militant Leader Ruled Out After
Thirty-five Minute Inquiry.

TO APPEAL FROM DECISION

Will Be Sent Back Thursday Unless
She Is Successful in Appeal—Lectures Postponed Until She Learns
What Will Be Fate—Seeks Writ of Habeas Corpus—No Demonstration.

BLAMES ENEMIES OF CAUSE.

"It was a star chamber proceeding all the way through. I don't think that the action of the special inquiry board represents the true spirit of the American people. Our opponents on the other side are responsible for my being held."—Statement by Mrs. Pankhurst after she was ordered deported.

New York, Oct. 19.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the noted English militant suffragette, was ordered deported within two hours of her arrival in this country.

Arriving here on the French liner La Provence, she was hurried to Ellis island the moment she landed, and within two hours the board of special inquiry which questioned her had decided that she could not enter this country.

The board, after an extended conference, came to the conclusion that Mrs. Pankhurst's imprisonment and the crimes of which she was convicted in England constituted moral turpitude and would therefore cause her to be barred out as an undesirable.

Appeal to Washington.
Mrs. Pankhurst planned to appeal the case to the authorities at Washington and made an effort to procure her release on bail pending the outcome of this appeal. Herbert Reece, attorney for Mrs. O. H. Belmont's Political Equality league, who met the militant leader down the bay, prepared the appeal.

While Mrs. Pankhurst's hearing was going on Commissioner General Canine and Acting Secretary Post were waiting at the other end of the wire in Washington to learn the result of the board's deliberations. No intimation of the action to be taken by them, in the event of the reference of the case to Washington, was given there.

Hurried to Island.
The militant commander was taken on a special tug from the French liner pier. There was no demonstration as she landed, save a hearty cheer from about fifteen sailors who hung over the side of the Minnewaska of the Atlantic Transport line and greeted her as she walked along the deck of La Provence.

Although treated with every consideration, the votes for women champion who has been in prison and on hunger strikes half a dozen times for the sake of her cause, was informed promptly upon arrival that she would have to undergo an examination before the United States authorities as to her record before she would be permitted to enter the country.

Pledges Obedience.
Mrs. Pankhurst replied that she would observe the laws of the country, and the French line was notified that she would be detained.

The French line authorities were at first disposed to transport Mrs. Pankhurst to the island in the ordinary way—that is, by barge. Then some one remarked that 500 suffragettes were coming down to the pier and that they might insist on going on the barge. The steamship officials thereupon chartered the tug John Nichols, and the customs inspectors made a hurried search of Mrs. Pankhurst's baggage. Then she was placed on the tug, which steamed away for Ellis island without delay.

The trip to the island was without incident except that suffragette colors were pinned on the coat of Captain Dick Ray of the Nichols by a delegation consisting of Mrs. Pankhurst, Miss Joan Wickham, Miss Mary Keegan, Miss Mary E. Thornton and Mrs. Rheta Childe Dorr. The others met

Mrs. Pankhurst at the pier and went aboard the tug with her.

Inspector George Moore of the immigration service escorted Mrs. Pankhurst through a rear entrance to the special inquiry room, where the members of the board were waiting her.

LAY BOMB FOR MINE GUARDS.

Engineer's Quick Eye Saves Train in Calumet Region.

Calumet, Mich., Oct. 19.—An attempt was made to blow up a Keweenaw Central passenger train taking forty-two guards to the Mohawk mine. Engineer Stephen Cocking, saw a fuse burning on the track and stopped the train in time to prevent a wreck. A section of the track just in front of the train was blown up.

Following the explosion several hundred strikers surrounded the train. They were in a threatening mood, but the arrival of a force of mounted troops prevented trouble. The soldiers are in control of the situation. The affair probably will result in a stronger military force being sent into the Keweenaw district.

CYCLIST FALLS ON COFFIN.

Hurled From His Motor Wheel, He
Dives Through Side of Hearse.

Bloomington, N. J., Oct. 19.—Losing control at Union square of a high powered motorcycle, John Roach of Butler was thrown from the machine and went head first through the glass doors in a hearse. He fell on the top of the coffin bearing the body of Oscar Vreeland.

The funeral procession had to halt, and several of the mourners were called to assist the undertaker in extricating Roach. He was badly cut by his passage through the thick glass.

MRS. GLIDDEN IN ACCIDENT.

Wife of Cup Tour Founder in Auto
That Kills a Boy.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 19.—An automobile occupied by Mrs. Franklin J. Burnham of Colorado and Mrs. Charles J. Glidden, wife of the founder of the Glidden cup automobile tour, knocked down and fatally injured seven-year-old William Boyle in Cambridgeport.

The boy was taken into the car and hurried to the Relief hospital, where he died. The chauffeur, Charles J. Holmes, was arrested on a charge of manslaughter and released on bail furnished by Mrs. Burnham.

$1,500 NOT LEFT TO ASTOR.

Uncle Wrote "Mr. and Mrs. Vincent,"
Not "My Nephew Vincent."

Philadelphia, Oct. 19.—A more thorough examination of the almost illegible will left by Barton Willing shows that it was not to Vincent Astor that he left $1,740.

It appears that following the signature "B. Willing" on the curious will, which was written in lead pencil on a scrap of paper, is this postscript, "To Mr. and Mrs. Vincent I give $1,500 (fifteen hundred dollars) each." These beneficiaries are servants of the Willing family. So indignant is the writing that employees of the office of the register of wills thought Mr. Willing had written "to my nephew, Vincent."

IT'S NOT TOO SOON

FEAR OF ASSASSINATION.

Envoys of Dictator Meet Him in Havana and Urge Him Not to Continue Journey, but He Disregards Their Plans—Huerta Denies Intention to Resign Presidency in Near Future.

City of Mexico, Oct. 19.—Provisional President Huerta has said he had not resigned nor fled from the capital and had no intention of doing either.

Havana, Oct. 19.—General Felix Diaz was intimidated on his arrival here and urged not to continue to the City of Mexico to stand for the presidency. He is in terror of assassination.

Senor Emerico de la Garza, recently appointed Mexican consul general at Paris, a trusted agent of Provisional President Huerta, met Diaz and told him it was his patriotic duty not to return to Mexico at this time.

"Death to the traitor!" cried Madaro's deputy, Rafael Treto, when a boat put out from the steamer Corcovado, on which Diaz had arrived.

Treto was arrested, and all Mexicans were driven from the wharves until all passengers had landed.

Three members of the Diaz party from the City of Mexico also met the general and urged him to pay heed to the advice of Garza. They declared Mexico needed him and that he should continue homeward regardless of the personal danger.

The Huerta emissary told Diaz he must do nothing to interfere with the provisional president's plans for the pacification of the country or that might weaken Huerta's efforts to remain in power.

Diaz was firm in his determination to go straight to the City of Mexico. He remained ashore for a brief period and then went back to the Corcovado, which sailed for Vera Cruz. At no time during his stay did he express an opinion concerning affairs in Mexico.

Seventy-four Deputies Held. City of Mexico, Oct. 19.—Seventy-four of the 110 members of the Mexican chamber of deputies, arrested by order of Provisional President Huerta on Oct. 10, were formally declared prisoners by the second judge of the federal district court. They are charged with rebellion, sedition and insults to important public functionaries.

Rodolfo Reyes, formerly provisional minister of justice, and Jorge Vera Estanola, formerly provisional minister of public instruction, were among those kept in custody.

Ten of the deputies were set at liberty because of insufficient evidence to hold them.

Huerta For Blanket. Washington, Oct. 19.—General Blanquet is said to be Huerta's choice for the succession.

President Wilson will not recognize General Blanquet because of his past record and the belief that he is a tool of Huerta. It is understood the state department would be favorable to the election as president of either Pedro Lascurain or Frederico Gamboa.

The final act in the prolonged litigation over the will of the late Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy was the appointment by Judge Charles R. Corning in the Merimack county (N. H.) court of probate of trustees to administer the $100,000 fund which Mrs. Eddy left for the promotion and extension of the doctrine of Christian Science as taught by her.

Police Sergeant J. D. McQuade found an old man wandering aimlessly in the White House grounds. He told McQuade that he was Simon Flynn, seventy-seven years old, of Northboro, Mass., and had come to sell a horse belonging to President Wilson. He had with him the recipe for the liniment.

The 5 per cent discount clause in the new tariff act was made the subject of a further protest by Germany through Daniel von Hainhausen, charge d'affaires who called on the acting secretary of state, John Bassett Moore, and left with his written objections to the clause.

PLACING TROUT FRY

32,000 Fingerlings Given to the Waters in This County.

On Saturday 32,000 trout fry were emptied into streams in this county. The trout fry were received from the state fisheries commission and three parties of local anglers conveyed them to the streams. Only three of the fish were dead when the consignment reached here.

Those who placed the fry say they were splendid fish and when they entered the water they conducted themselves like little school children, darting themselves in a manner that showed that they were glad of their freedom.

CANCELLED THE GAME

Injuries to Local Players Prevents Football Contest Saturday.

Unfortunately the local high school team was forced to cancel Saturday's game with the strong Williamsport High school team. Several of the local players were out of the game on account of injuries and Coach Kase thought it best to save the players for the upcoming game with State College High school. The boys are anxious to win this game, which has now assumed the importance of an annual game. Last year the two teams were very evenly matched and neither side was able to score. This year the dope all points our way, and the Clearfield boys feel that State is doomed to defeat.

DR. E. C. REEVE CALLED TO WASHINGTON CITY

Pastor of First Presbyterian Church May Leave Clearfield

The congregation of the First Presbyterian church of Clearfield was surprised when Dr. E. C. Reeve announced from the pulpit that he had received a call to the First Presbyterian church at Washington, D. C. The doctor stated that he had not made up his mind to accept the call, but it is believed that he will accept.

The First Presbyterian church at the national capital is one of the largest and most prominent churches in that city, and although his Clearfield congregation would sincerely regret his departure from this town they would be glad to know that he would occupy a much more advantageous position in Washington.

Dr. Reeve has been pastor of the First Presbyterian church for about four years, coming here from Philadelphia. He has won the friendship of the people of Clearfield by his courteous manner, and his ministry in the First church has been eminently successful.

FLOOD WARNING SERVICE SUCCESS

Passes the Experimental Stage in Pennsylvania

THREE STATIONS IN COUNTY

Clearfield Well Taken Care of—One Station on Chest Creek, one on the River at Bower, and one on Clearfield Creek at Sterling Run—Report of Observations Ready.

Pennsylvania's flood warning service, which was established under an appropriation act passed by the last legislature, has passed the experimental stage, according to officials of the State Water Supply commission, and within a short time it is possible that the service may be extended to the northeastern and western parts of the State.

Ninety-Seven Stations. The commission has successfully operated a number of gauging stations on the streams of the state for years, having taken over in 1907 nine stations established by the federal government on the Susquehanna, Youghiogheny and Allegheny rivers, and created others since until it now has ninety-seven stations distributed over the four main river basins of Pennsylvania: the Delaware, Susquehanna, Potomac and Ohio.

Reports Almost Ready. The flood warning system now in process of organization is intended to give warnings to districts downstream of the probable height of impending floods and the daily flow and the records of stream discharge are important factors. Reports of gauge heights and channel conditions are received from observers at each station, and a mass of figures showing the flow of streams throughout the State is now in the hands of the printers. It is proposed to publish annually the complete stream data for the preceding year.

Three in Clearfield County. The stations which have been used in the flood warning service are on Buffalo Creek, near Lewisburg; two on Lycoming Creek, one on Chest Creek, in Clearfield county; one on the west branch of the Susquehanna, at Bower; one on Clearfield Creek, at Sterling Run, and one on Kettle Creek, in Clinton county. In addition stations for gauge heights have co-operated at Clearfield, Renovo Lock Haven, Jersey Shore, and Lewisburg.

OUR USELESS BUFFALOES.

They Have Passed Away Because They Were Economically Unfit.

As a typical species of American fauna the buffalo had his place in our history, but take him by and large he was a rather useless beast, with no adaptability for civilization. He served his purpose on the plains when men led a nomadic life there and existed on his rifle. But as soon as the range land, over which the buffalo "roamed" in countless thousands, became fit for settlement the buffalo was decidedly de trop.

Very little of him was fit to eat. He was worth a bullet when there was no other meat to be had, but a people accustomed to modern steaks and roasts would find him not overappetizing once the novelty wore off. In a word the buffalo was economically unfit, and he went the way of the unfit.

Had he been conserved he might now be affording opportunity for big game hunters to enjoy themselves in moderation. They are really the only persons who have suffered by his disappearance. To preserve the buffalo as a specimen in our zoos is proper. He is a curiosity and has a historical value. But entirely too many tears have been shed over his destruction. One steer was and still is worth a dozen bison.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

The Sun From a Balloon.

At the height of two miles the sun shines with a fierce intensity unknown below, where the dust and the denser air scatters the rays, which, thus diffused, lose their intensity while illuminating every nook and corner of our houses. At heights exceeding five miles this diffused light is mostly gone, and the sun shines a glowing ball, sharply outlined in a sky of which the blue is so dark as to approach blackness. At the outer limits of the atmosphere the sun would appear a brilliant star of massive size among other stars, and if one stepped from its burning rays into shadow he would enter Egyptian darkness.

INVITES GERMANY TO HALT AERIAL NAVY

Churchill Proposes Cessation For Twelve Months.

London, Oct. 19.—Speaking at a great Liberal meeting in Manchester, Winston Churchill, the first lord of the admiralty, in behalf of the government, made a specific offer to Germany of a year's "naval holiday," wherein both nations would agree to halt the construction of battleships.

Widespread interest was aroused by the proposal, and much significance is attached to the offer, which was made while he was discussing the naval expenditures of $375,000,000 a year and warning the nation of the inevitable heavy increase in armaments if the rivalry continued.

The pith of his speech was contained in this paragraph: Now, we say in all friendship and sincerity to our great neighbor, Germany, if you will put off beginning to build your two ships for twelve months, we will put off in absolute good faith the building of our four ships for exactly the same period.

If Great Britain and Germany took the lead Mr. Churchill added, there was a good prospect of success in getting other powers to agree to a naval holiday thus relieving the taxpayers of a burden of millions of dollars.

Mr. Churchill first advocated a naval holiday on March 26, when he was speaking in the house of commons on the naval estimates, but Germany did not accept his offer.

DAY OF VICTORY AT TABERNACLE

Glen Richey Revival Is Bringing Good Results

EVANGELIST IS WINNING SOULS

Niety Responded to Invitation Sunday and Interest in Meeting Grows—Singing of Prof. Leonard and his "Booster" Chorus Interesting Feature of the Revival.

The Glen Richey revival, which has been in progress just one week in a large, frame tabernacle erected especially for the meetings, reached a great victory on Sunday. Large crowds greeted Evangelist Hamilton and Prof. Leonard.

Three services were held during the day and the first invitation given to the unsaved. During the day there were ninety who responded. Interest in the meetings has been good from the start, but is growing in intensity and is spreading to outlying districts and towns.

Telling Discourses.

Mr. Hamilton is preaching telling discourses. So far the work has gone on without a criticism and the people both in and out of the churches are well pleased. Persons who took an active part in the recent McConnell campaign at Clearfield and who have attended these meetings are freely saying that Evangelist Hamilton is not one whit behind that remarkable man who so completely won the people of Clearfield and the surrounding community.

Excellent Singing.

The singing, which is being conducted by Prof. Leonard, is doing most excellent work. The interest taken in the music is intense and unusual. Prof. Leonard has a "Booster" chorus composed of boys and girls, and it is interesting to see how these little folks are taking hold of the songs he is teaching them, and they are leading quite an influence to the masses.

Tonight the Evangelist will rest. The services will be resumed on Tuesday evening and every night this week. Next Sunday, 26th, Mr. Hamilton has announced that he will preach to men only at 8:00 o'clock on the subject, "Shams".

BABY MIDSHIPMEN.

In the Old Days When Children Were Sent to War.

Among other improvements in the art of war as attained by the world in these later days is the abolition of the practice of sending children to sea, as was the case when the midshipmen of the old "oak walls" of England often were boys of less than fourteen years.

The Marquis of Dufferin and Ava in telling about the siege of Bomarsund, in the Crimean war, which he witnessed from the frigate Penelope, related this story of one of these little fellows.

"What pleased me most during the whole business," he says, "was the gallant behavior of a little midshipman, a mere child, thirteen or fourteen years of age. About the time when the fire became pretty hot, I happened to come across him, and, as he seemed to be as much out of a job as myself, I touched my cap and took the liberty of observing that it was a fine day, to which he politely replied that it was."

"Encouraged by his urbanity, I ventured to ask him how long he had been at sea, to which he answered, 'I have only left my mamma six weeks, but I ain't going to cry on her majesty's quarterdeck,' a remark which I think as worth recording as many a one made by more illustrious heroes. Soon after this, however, a man was killed close to him, and the little fellow fainted and was taken below."

A Woman Governor.

Queens have ruled many nations, but Pennsylvania is the only one of the United States that ever had a woman for governor. A passage unearthed from Arthur's "Governors of Pennsylvania," page 126, says:

"On the 30th of July, 1718, William Penn died, at the age of seventy-four. By his will his wife, Hannah, was made his sole executrix and assumed the management of colonial affairs, executing this difficult task with rare tact and business capacity. 'She became,' says Watson, 'in effect our governor, ruling us by her deputies or lieutenant governors during all the term of her children's minority.'"

COMING EVENTS.

General election, Nov. 4.

closes Nov. 25.

Good evening! Made up your mind
whom you will vote for for judge?

A VITAL ISSUE.

The assertion that the liquor license question is not an important issue in the judgeship campaign in Clearfield county is not correct.
While there are some people in the
county who do not regard the license
question as important, there are thousands who look with disfavor
upon even the suggestion that the judge of the county courts should be
under the domination of the liquor interests. And if the voters are to believe one-half of what is said of the two Democratic candidates for
judge their success at the polls next
set month depends almost wholly up-
on the amount of work done and the bottle the liquor interests contribute
to one or the other of these candidates.
The liquor license question has been made a vital issue in this campaign by the newspapers and friends
of the two Democratic candidates.
Charges and countercharges of being
allied with the liquor interests have

been made against both of these candidates, with no convincing denial
of the accusations from either. In the absence of any denial of these charges must not the people infer
that both Democratic candidates look
with favor upon men who are now
selling liquor and those who hope to sell it in the future? The voters will not be fooled into believing that
either of these candidates will enforce
the liquor laws if either one of them
is elected.

It is folly to say that the license
question does not enter into the
consideration of the fitness of the candidates for judge. A majority of the people of Clearfield county are opposed to an increase in the number
of licenses to sell liquor in Clearfield
county, and yet the statements of
the newspapers which are conducting
the campaign of the two Democratic candidates for judge are trying to prove that both candidates stand in
with the liquor interests. The leaders of each faction are sure that
the candidate of the other faction has
promised licenses to a large number
of would-be hotel keepers in the county. This charge is not made
by the citizens who are advocating
the election of Oscar Mitchell, but
by members of the two Democratic
factions.

Oscar Mitchell is the only candidate for judge who has boldly and
squarely defined his position on the license question. He has explicitly declared that he will not grant any
wholesale licenses, that he will enforce the no-bottle rule and that he will prohibit treating. Not a word
relative to these three menacing
features of the liquor business has come from the two Democratic candidates. Why? Is it because these
two candidates are supported by the liquor element? Is it because the charge that both of them have secured the support of the liquor interest through promises—either made
themselves of by their adherents—
that the liquor interests need not fear that the court will reduce the number of licenses or refuse to grant
licenses to wholesalers?

It is because the temperance people
—the people who are disgusted and alarmed when they see the ever-growing influence of the liquor element
with the makers and dispensers of
the law—believe that in Oscar Mitchell's candidacy they have an opportunity to overthrow the evil of
intemperance and because they fear
that the court presided over by either
of the two Democratic candidates
may increase the power of the liquor
interests to work harm to the moral
and physical natures of the people
that the voters of Clearfield county
will elect Oscar Mitchell and thus
put upon the bench a man who will
curb the harmful influence of the liquor dealers and otherwise conduct
the affairs of the county courts in
the interests of the people.

FIRE PREVENTION

Clearfield has been exceptionally
fortunate in the matter of expensive
fires. This fact may be regarded as being due to good luck rather than
to any precautions against confagra-
tions taken by the citizens. The fact
of the matter is that the citizens of Clearfield invite the destruction of
their property by their carelessness
and indifference. It is therefore almost miraculous that fires are not
more numerous and disastrous.

In passing along the streets waste
paper and other inflammable material
may be seen in alleyways, on cellar
steps and under porches, where a carelessly tossed match or cigarette
may at any time start a fire which would be disastrous. Such carelessness
is almost criminal, and citizens
should resolve to inaugurate a
campaign of cleanliness which would
remove the menace of serious blazes
from the properties in this town.

What seems to be badly needed in
this town are ordinances prohibiting
the throwing of rubbish of any kind
into the streets or in such places
about the streets as to endanger property through fire; for the appointment of an official whose duty it
would be to enforce the above ordinance, among inflammable material.
With some such legislation the danger of destructive fires would be greatly lessened.

The women at a seaside resort in California voted against the closing
of the saloons in that place. That's
the kind of women who waste their
time at seaside resorts.

Popcorn is now a breakfast food.
The popping is probably done in the

IMPROVEMENT OF HIGHWAYS

Numerous Financial Reasons
For Proposed Improvements

NO TAXES ON REAL ESTATE

Farmer Escapes, While Nearly All of
the Interest on the Proposed Bond Issue Will Be Paid by Corporations
and Automobile License Fees.

Reasons for voting for the Good Roads amendment to the constitution
and building the roads, exist in almost infinite variety; but of reasons
to the contrary no valid or even plausible ones have been shown. In this connection a few facts may be
interesting:

With nearly seven billion dollars' worth of property, Pennsylvania real estate pays no state taxes, and the State has no debt. Sixty-eight per cent of its population live in its cities, boroughs, and other centers, leaving but 32 per cent on the farms. The State has an area of approximately 46,000 square miles, 100,000 miles of roads of different classes, or about 2.2 miles of road to each square mile of land.

The revenues of the State, out of which will be paid the interest and amortization charges on the Good Roads loan, are derived mainly from a tax on the capital stock and the gross receipts of corporations, some licenses of various kinds, a variety of fines and penalties, the automobile registration tax and some other items.

The farmer, therefore, nor the real estate owner, will pay a dollar of the cost of carrying a road loan, and the people who will pay it all are very greatly in favor of the proposition. Their taxes will increase, but not in rate. The great enhancement of business, caused by the improve- ment of the roads, will naturally in- crease the gross receipts, on which the corporations will quite cheerfully pay the added tax.

On the other hand if the constitu- tional amendment be defeated at the polls, the defeat is almost certain to be followed by the levy of a direct property tax. The absolute necessity for the improvement of the State Highways will force action on the subject, and while no additional taxa- tion will be necessary to pay the car- rying charges on an issue of bonds, in case of the failure of the bonds the only recourse will be to direct taxa- tion to get the amount of money necessary to go ahead with the work of highway construction.

This danger is not one to be poo- poohed, nor laughed at. Last fall the voters of Ohio defeated a constitu- tional amendment providing for a bond issue for road purposes; where- upon the Legislature at the following session, responding to the insistent demand for highway improvement, enacted a law levying a direct tax on real property for road purposes for a series of years. If the constitu- tional amendment had been carried at the polls the extra direct taxation would not have been necessary.

The proposition should appeal to the business intelligence of every citizen of Pennsylvania. With the roads improved over the State so that every producer can haul his products to market at a minimum of cost, and when it suits him, the agricultural in- terests of the state will prosper and grow rich, both on account of the money saved in the haulage and by reason of the fact that the farmer can market his products at his own in- clination, instead of being obliged to haul when the roads are passable; and this invariably occurs when there is a shortage of cars, a congestion of markets and low prices.

Among the corporations which pay revenue to the State of Pennsylvania the Pennsylvania Railroad Company stands as the leader. It makes the largest individual payments of any firm or corporation. Since its organ- ization the company has stood uni- formly in favor of highway improve- ment, and has many times assisted, with influence and money, in their construction. It has always been and still is the view of that corporation that the development of commerce, by reason of highway improvement, is an important factor in the material pro- gress of a state and its institutions.

In the fourth annual report of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, page 9, dated December 31, 1880, occurs the following paragraph:

"The plank roads from Bedford to Hollidaysburg, and from Somerset to Johnstown, with numberless kindred improvements under construction or in contemplation, will aid in swelling the receipts of the mother work (The Pennsylvania Railroad) to which they owe their existence, and in develop- ing the dormant wealth of Pennsyl- vania."

The company still maintains the idea that the construction of improv- ed highways is in line with the de- velopment of Pennsylvania's dormant resources; and with this development must come more business for the rail- roads, and a greater accumulation of wealth by the people.

Not only must the quality of the soil and improvements be satisfactory to the man who wants to buy a farm, but he first wants to know, before he will go to look at it that it has a telephone, and is along a rural mail route and a good road.

Emer A. Peterson and Miss Martha Jane Hollopeter were married Saturday evening at 5 o'clock at the home of the bride.

Basketball.
Basketball was the invention of one man and was completed at a single sitting. In 1891, in the course of a lecture at the Young Men's Christian association in Plainfield, Mass., the lecturer spoke of the mental processes of invention and used a game, with its limitations and necessities, as an illustration. James Naismith, who was a member of the class, worked out basketball that same night as an ideal game to meet the case. It was presented the next day in the lecture room and put in practice with the aid of the members of the gymnasium. From there it spread to other branches of the Young Men's Christian association and subsequently to athletic clubs and the general public.—New York Press.

An Optimist's Epitaph.
The Caribbead invalid has ordinarily a surprisingly robust appearance. He looks strong. Sufferers say he has to be to live through the rigors of the cure. There is an apocryphal legend of an epitaph in a Caribbead churchyard:

I was well.
I hoped to be better.
Here I am!

The woman's hair is gray, her figure is frail. She might easily be the grandmother of men now voting. She was asked why she came here. "To tell America why we want the vote in England," she replied. A sad smile crossed her face, as if she realized that her mission had failed. "I have no advice to give to the women here. So far as I intended to speak of the suffrage situation here, it was to congratulate the American women upon the orderly sweep of the suffrage sentiment across the country."

SMOKE OUT OPPONENTS OF THE CURRENCY BILL

Wilson Told That Republicans Will Not Delay Measure.

Washington, Oct. 19.—Senator Stone announced that he will address the senate next Wednesday on the necessity of passing the currency bill at this session of congress.

It is generally understood that he will act as a direct spokesman of President Wilson when he urges his colleagues to put aside their differences and unite on the bill.

Senator Stone's speech is calculated to "smoke out" and put on public record Senator O'Gorman of New York, Senator Reed of Missouri and Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, the three Democrats whose tactics are delaying action on the bill.

Senator Stone is expected to direct much of his fire against Senator O'Gorman, with whom he had an altercation on the subject the other day.

The speech to be made by Senator Stone is expected to be the beginning of an active fight for the passage of the bill at this session, and other Democratic senators are understood to be preparing to demand that the party get together and dispose of the legislation.

President Wilson showed increased optimism at the outlook for early action on the bill. Senator Knute Nelson, the ranking Republican on the committee, conferred with the president and assured him that the Republicans did not propose to filibuster against the bill, but that they are extremely anxious to help put the measure through after they have been satisfied of its worth. This partial promise of support from a Republican appeared to have reassured the president in the face of opposition led by O'Gorman.

One Killed; Three Injured.
Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Oct. 19.—William Joyce of Beacon was killed and Irving Lester and Mrs. Mamie Ackert of Poughkeepsie were seriously injured when their automobile left the roadway and ran into a tree near Hyde Park.

DEATHS OF A DAY.

Commander Charles Augustine Brand, U. S. N., retired, is dead at Colchester, Conn. He was a native of Norfolk, Va., and during his service of twelve years commanded the station at Culebra and the United States ship Alliance. He retired in 1912.

Dr. William E. Spaulding, for many years dean of the College of Dentistry, University of Minnesota, died at his home at Farmington, Minn. He was seventy-one years old. Dr. Spaulding was veteran of the civil war.

Thomas C. Leight died suddenly at his home in Mount Vernon, N. Y. He was born in Bridgeport, Conn., fifty-nine years ago. Mr. Leigh was once in the coal business in Bridgeport.

Charles Symons, formerly sergeant of Company H, Twenty-third regiment, N. G. N. Y. He was born in Brooklyn fifty-four years ago and was in the insurance business.

Ignatius Byheny, a retired master decorator, died from asthma at the age of seventy-eight years at his home, Evergreen, N. Y.

James McKane, prominent Brooklyn contractor, who built most of Coney Island's large hotels, is dead at Sheepshead Bay, N. Y.

Samuel Ketcham, many years a dry goods and lace merchant of Atlantic City N. J., is dead there.

PALPITATION OF THE HEART.

It is Usually Caused by Nervous or Digestive Troubles.

Palpitation is rarely if ever due to any disease or weakness of the heart. It is almost invariably the result of nervous or digestive trouble. The beat of the heart arises within itself. There are nerves in the muscles of the heart, and they regulate its beating, although the speed or rate of the beating is not of their choosing. If they were not held in check they would set a rate about double that which is actually maintained.

The heart is supplied from the brain with two pairs of regulating nerves. One pair, the cardio motor nerves, act only to spur up the heart to quicker action. They are usually inactive, waiting the occasion for applying the spur. The other pair, the cardio inhibitory nerves, are always in action. It has been said that the heart runs in a pair of tightly held reins, and the simile is true, for these nerves check the speed.

Fear, worry, disorder of the stomach or nervous system causes these cardio inhibitory nerves to relax; then the heart begins to race. There is nothing the matter with the heart itself, and no one need be alarmed about that organ just because it beats too rapidly. Its palpitation is due to a psychological or a physical cause, something that has caused the relaxation of the reins and allowed the cardio motor nerves to apply the spur.—New York World.

CHILD SHOOTS HIS MOTHER.

Thinking Target Rifle Empty, the Boy Pulls the Trigger.

Egg Harbor, N. J., Oct. 19.—Seven-year-old Charles Welschbecker, playing with a 22 caliber rifle, shot and seriously wounded his mother.

The bullet entered a few inches from the mother's spine and lodged in the lungs. She is in an Atlantic City hospital and may not recover.

The boy had been shooting targets with the rifle, and, thinking the gun empty, pointed it at his mother and pulled the trigger.

Clasp Counsel For Nervous.

Washington, Oct. 19.—Two grimy little youngsters who sell papers at the marble office building of the senate will have Senator Clapp as counsel in the juvenile court Tuesday, where they are charged with jumping on street cars. "I used to do a lot worse things than that when I was a boy," the senator said, "but no one arrested me for them."

MRS. EATON JEALOUS OF NAVAL OFFICER

Girl Denies He Flirted With Member of Choir.

Plymouth, Mass., Oct. 19.—The trial of Mrs. Jennie May Eaton, charged with the murder of her husband, Rear Admiral Joseph G. Eaton, through the administering of poison, has developed these facts:

First.—She was jealous of the famous old naval officer.

Second.—Her accusation that he was addicted to drugs is not upheld by the opinion of Dr. Joseph Frame, to whom his death came as a surprise.

Third.—She wrote letters calculated to show that her husband was a flirt and had insulted a young woman friend.

The testimony as to the jealousy of Mrs. Eaton was given by her daughter, Miss Dorothy Almsworth. The young woman is seventeen years old and a daughter by her first marriage. She testified she never had seen her stepfather act in any other manner than that of gentleman and never had seen him flirt, as her mother said.

Supporting the testimony to show jealousy of her husband a letter written by Mrs. Eaton was put in evidence when Miss Grace Byram Howard of New Bedford was called to the stand. Miss Howard was a singer in the choir in the little church at Assinippi, where the Eaton family went to church.

She denied the admiral had winked at her or flirted, as Mrs. Eaton had asked her to do.

AMUSEMENTS

"The Spendthrift"

At the New Opera House next Monday night theatregoers will have the opportunity of seeing the latest New York dramatic sensation, "The Spendthrift." It is from the pen of Porter Emerson Browne, whose "A Fool There Was" first brought him into prominence as a playwright.

Mr. Browne's play deals with a silly, vain, extravagant woman who is, of course, pretty, kittenish and lovable. Her sole enjoyment in life is culled from society and she believes that her social position should be kept intact at all hazards. She loves her husband in her indolent, light, playful fashion. Is he not the brain power of the machine that grinds out her money? To attempt to argue or reason with such a woman is useless. She is not, however, a bad woman, but thoughtless and selfish. Her extravagances have landed her husband in bankruptcy.

SULZER TO FIGHT TAMMANY HALL

Plans Attack on Judge McCall,
Mayoralty Candidate.

STATEMENT FROM FRAWLEY

Senator Denies That Any Campaign
Money Went to Murphy and Talks of Prosecuting Executive For Perjury.
Sulzer Will Issue No Statement Except From Stump.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 19.—William Sulzer intends to enter the New York mayoralty campaign, attacking Edward E. McCall, the Tammany candidate, as the emissary of "Boss" Murphy in the negotiations which caused the break between the governor and Tammany and resulted in Sulzer's removal from office.

Friends of the ex-governor declare he will openly charge that during the early months of his administration McCall, first as a justice of the supreme court and later as Sulzer's appointee to the chairmanship of the public service commission, frequently urged him to call off the Hennessy investigations and stop the intended graft prosecutions.

Sulzer himself would not talk about this feature of his intended campaign of speechmaking. His secretary, Chester C. Platt, however, said: "It is true that during the early part of the Sulzer administration McCall was a frequent visitor at the executive mansion. He did make requests with which Governor Sulzer could not comply. That is all I can say. Mr. Sulzer will have something to say on that matter himself when he gets to New York."

To Explain Ryan Incident.
Friends of Sulzer also say that when he takes the stand he will have a very pertinent explanation of the Allan Ryan incident. He will admit getting $10,000 from Ryan, but will claim that he solicited the contribution at the request of Charles F. Murphy and that the money was turned over to an agent of Murphy.

Sulzer will leave here in a state automobile, the same highway department machine he has used ever since John N. Carlisle became commissioner of highways.

He insists he will make no further statement until he takes the stump. John A. Hennessy also plans to enter the mayoralty campaign in New York, attacking Murphy and the Tammany machine with the material he has gathered in his investigations.

Governor Glynn will not occupy the executive mansion until Nov. 1. A corps of cleaners will be put to work and the house will be thoroughly renovated and overhauled. It is known that Mrs. Glynn plans to entertain extensively.

Frawley Makes Denial.
New York, Oct. 19.—"William Sulzer's statement that he turned over to agents of Charles F. Murphy or to the state committee all or any part of the money collected for campaign expenses and originally deposited in his personal bank account is so absurd that it is laughable."

"If Sulzer persists in these attacks and makes himself obnoxious in the municipal campaign it would not be surprising if the perjury charge established at the impeachment trial is pressed for action in the criminal courts."

This is Tammany's reply made by Senator James J. Frawley to Sulzer's charge that all money collected and not accounted for in his sworn list of contributions were turned over to Murphy and his lieutenants.

Sulzer's aid in the municipal campaign would be gladly accepted by the fusionists, it is said. In the Sixth district his nomination is being widely discussed for the assembly on the Progressive ticket. This nomination is made possible by the deadlock between the Republicans and Progressives in a vain effort to fuse.

LOVING CUP FOR SULZER.

Admirers Likewise Present Bouquet to Mrs. Sulzer.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 19.—In a drizzling rain about 100 men, headed by a band, marched to the executive mansion and presented to William Sulzer a silver loving cup and to Mrs. Sulzer a huge bouquet of American Beauty roses. The procession was led by William Furlong, an undertaker, and at its head was carried a transparency reading on one side, "Our Bill: He Dared to Do Right," and on the other "William Sulzer, Victim of Corrupt Bossism." Each of the paraders wore a lithograph of Sulzer in his hat. One of the onlookers was Patrick E. McCabe, clerk to the court of impeachment, and the gathering led him to remark:

"That is a collection of the finest political crackpots I have ever seen." The paraders consisted of a mixture of all parties, most of them in the disappointed class. Mr. Sulzer's secretary, Chester C. Platt, walked between Calvin Keesch and Jay W. Forrest. The loving cup was engraved: "To William Sulzer, Impeached Governor; a Victim of Corrupt Bossism. Friday, Oct. 17, 1913."

REFUSE TO ADMIT MRS. PANKHURST

Militant Leader Ruled Out After
Thirty-five Minute Inquiry.

TO APPEAL FROM DECISION

Will Be Sent Back Thursday Unless
She Is Successful in Appeal—Lectures Postponed Until She Learns
What Will Be Fate—Seeks Writ of Habeas Corpus—No Demonstration.

BLAMES ENEMIES OF CAUSE.

"It was a star chamber proceeding all the way through. I don't think that the action of the special inquiry board represents the true spirit of the American people. Our opponents on the other side are responsible for my being held."—Statement by Mrs. Pankhurst after she was ordered deported.

New York, Oct. 19.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the noted English militant suffragette, was ordered deported within two hours of her arrival in this country.

Arriving here on the French liner La Provence, she was hurried to Ellis island the moment she landed, and within two hours the board of special inquiry which questioned her had decided that she could not enter this country.

The board, after an extended conference, came to the conclusion that Mrs. Pankhurst's imprisonment and the crimes of which she was convicted in England constituted moral turpitude and would therefore cause her to be barred out as an undesirable.

Appeal to Washington.
Mrs. Pankhurst planned to appeal the case to the authorities at Washington and made an effort to procure her release on bail pending the outcome of this appeal. Herbert Reece, attorney for Mrs. O. H. Belmont's Political Equality league, who met the militant leader down the bay, prepared the appeal.

While Mrs. Pankhurst's hearing was going on Commissioner General Canine and Acting Secretary Post were waiting at the other end of the wire in Washington to learn the result of the board's deliberations. No intimation of the action to be taken by them, in the event of the reference of the case to Washington, was given there.

Hurried to Island.
The militant commander was taken on a special tug from the French liner pier. There was no demonstration as she landed, save a hearty cheer from about fifteen sailors who hung over the side of the Minnewaska of the Atlantic Transport line and greeted her as she walked along the deck of La Provence.

Although treated with every consideration, the votes for women champion who has been in prison and on hunger strikes half a dozen times for the sake of her cause, was informed promptly upon arrival that she would have to undergo an examination before the United States authorities as to her record before she would be permitted to enter the country.

Pledges Obedience.
Mrs. Pankhurst replied that she would observe the laws of the country, and the French line was notified that she would be detained.

The French line authorities were at first disposed to transport Mrs. Pankhurst to the island in the ordinary way—that is, by barge. Then some one remarked that 500 suffragettes were coming down to the pier and that they might insist on going on the barge. The steamship officials thereupon chartered the tug John Nichols, and the customs inspectors made a hurried search of Mrs. Pankhurst's baggage. Then she was placed on the tug, which steamed away for Ellis island without delay.

The trip to the island was without incident except that suffragette colors were pinned on the coat of Captain Dick Ray of the Nichols by a delegation consisting of Mrs. Pankhurst, Miss Joan Wickham, Miss Mary Keegan, Miss Mary E. Thornton and Mrs. Rheta Childe Dorr. The others met

Mrs. Pankhurst at the pier and went aboard the tug with her.

Inspector George Moore of the immigration service escorted Mrs. Pankhurst through a rear entrance to the special inquiry room, where the members of the board were waiting her.

LAY BOMB FOR MINE GUARDS.

Engineer's Quick Eye Saves Train in Calumet Region.

Calumet, Mich., Oct. 19.—An attempt was made to blow up a Keweenaw Central passenger train taking forty-two guards to the Mohawk mine. Engineer Stephen Cocking, saw a fuse burning on the track and stopped the train in time to prevent a wreck. A section of the track just in front of the train was blown up.

Following the explosion several hundred strikers surrounded the train. They were in a threatening mood, but the arrival of a force of mounted troops prevented trouble. The soldiers are in control of the situation. The affair probably will result in a stronger military force being sent into the Keweenaw district.

CYCLIST FALLS ON COFFIN.

Hurled From His Motor Wheel, He
Dives Through Side of Hearse.

Bloomington, N. J., Oct. 19.—Losing control at Union square of a high powered motorcycle, John Roach of Butler was thrown from the machine and went head first through the glass doors in a hearse. He fell on the top of the coffin bearing the body of Oscar Vreeland.

The funeral procession had to halt, and several of the mourners were called to assist the undertaker in extricating Roach. He was badly cut by his passage through the thick glass.

MRS. GLIDDEN IN ACCIDENT.

Wife of Cup Tour Founder in Auto
That Kills a Boy.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 19.—An automobile occupied by Mrs. Franklin J. Burnham of Colorado and Mrs. Charles J. Glidden, wife of the founder of the Glidden cup automobile tour, knocked down and fatally injured seven-year-old William Boyle in Cambridgeport.

The boy was taken into the car and hurried to the Relief hospital, where he died. The chauffeur, Charles J. Holmes, was arrested on a charge of manslaughter and released on bail furnished by Mrs. Burnham.

$1,500 NOT LEFT TO ASTOR.

Uncle Wrote "Mr. and Mrs. Vincent,"
Not "My Nephew Vincent."

Philadelphia, Oct. 19.—A more thorough examination of the almost illegible will left by Barton Willing shows that it was not to Vincent Astor that he left $1,740.

It appears that following the signature "B. Willing" on the curious will, which was written in lead pencil on a scrap of paper, is this postscript, "To Mr. and Mrs. Vincent I give $1,500 (fifteen hundred dollars) each." These beneficiaries are servants of the Willing family. So indignant is the writing that employees of the office of the register of wills thought Mr. Willing had written "to my nephew, Vincent."
